India's Idea Leadership Talk on Smart India Hackathon 2017
by Dr. Anil Sahasrabudhe

Date 16 December 2016: Dr. Anil Sahasrabudhe, Chairman, All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE) & Smart India Hackathon 2017 talks about the process of Smart India Hackathon and how it will involve engineering students across India to provide technology solutions to real time problems faced by our country.Smart India Hackathon 2017 is world's biggest digital movement wherein 30 lakh technology students, more than 6,400 tech institutes will compete in 36 hour nonstop coding challenge across 33 centers in the nation to find out innovative solutions for any given problem statement.The Smart India Hackathon 2017 will aim to find digital solutions to problems in areas of power, education, health, water, finance, agriculture, energy, urban and rural development, aviation and shipping, transport, sanitation, sports, law and justice, skill development and entrepreneurship, defence, etc. In view of this, various government flagship programs/schemes have been implemented, where each program aims to provide support and cater to address problems faced in specific areas. Through these schemes, ministry aims to improve the quality of life, correct the developmental imbalances and to extend assistance to most disadvantaged sections of rural India. Key issues being targeted include (but not limited to) areas of rural employment, livelihood generation, rural connectivity, social assistance, rural housing to name a few.

All the teaching and non teaching staff members of Abha-Gaikwad Patil College of Engineering Wardha Road, Nagpur has attended the live talk via Facebook Live on www.facebook.com/InclusiveInnovation DTE.
